Tony Hero thought he was through romancing women for his country, but his boss has one more mission for him. The first woman dropped from the suspect list in a previous case is newly divorced from an even more menacing foe - an exAir Force Intelligence Office suspected of stealing high tech weapons and selling them to the highest bidder. The man has gone off the map and Tonys boss wants him found. The job: conspicuously romance Amanda, the ex-wife, in hopes of making the arms thief careless. He was abusive and ruthless. Will he make a mistake? The plans works too well. The antagonist doesnt want love, but he does want Amanda for other things. He sends all sort of villainous associates before he appears himself. Once again, Tony cant do seismology for flying bullets. And once again the good guy is left with only bad choices.
